Time Gives Second District Congress Race A Big Play

Time Magazine gave the Second Congressional District fight a big play in Saturday's issue, concentrating principally on Candidate Rudolph Rex Henderson and Incumbent Harry L. Englebright. However we must say that Democrat Frank Finnegan of Nevada City is very much in the race.

Says Time:

"In California this week, a zealous little businessman set out with his slingshot to puncture a political giant. Young (39), bespectacled, cigar-smoking Rudolph Rex Henderson had a flaming belief that the Congress which failed to prepare for war needs new faces. He was willing to spend $6,000 of his own money for campaign expenses—and lose $13,000 a year from his lumber business—to supply one of those faces himself.

"Henderson well knew that everything, especially geography, favored his opponent, tall, politically wise Harry Lane Englebright, Republican House whip. For nine terms Englebright has represented California's huge, mountainous Second District, which rambles over 51,850 square miles (a third of California, along the eastern border of the state,) is bigger than New York State or Pennsylvania.

He has always won both Republican and Democratic primary nominations, never has had to face an opponent in the election. All he has had to do was write enough letters home to convince his voters that watchful Harry Englebright was looking out for them.

Letter answered. Harry Englebright's strength in Congress resembles his strength at home. He seeks no publicity, makes few speeches, enters no fights, but handles many a behind scenes fixing job for Republican Leader Joe Martin. Usually he hangs over a rear rail in the House, calmly puffing cigarets, warily checking to see how many Republicans are on the floor.

Before Pearl Harbor, Englebright's votes were solidly isolationist: against Lend-Lease, against draft extension, against arming merchant ships, against lifting belligerent port and combat zone bans. But his campaign letters this year say:

"There is one common task confronting our people: to win this war and to win it as quickly as possible. I am dedicated to all these objectives. I have supported and voted for all war measures and appropriations and will continue to do so."

"The letter got a quick answer: Rudie Henderson jumped into the campaign to try to win the Republican nomination. Said he: "Nobody flattered me by suggesting that I run for Congress. The only way to get a better Congress is to elect better men. No single Congressman is going to be a Horatio. But I believe the people have a bellyful of the present Congress."

How Are Your Tires? The tires on Rudie Henderson's green Mercury sedan were already worn from 25,000 miles of use. But he started out bravely on a campaign tour, aiming to visit all the little desert and mountain towns he could: Fair Play, Grizzly Flats, Indian Diggins, Angel's Camp. Since the district's 218,000 residents live four to a square mile, he would have to go far to shake hands with all of them. And he had no franking privilege to broadcast his campaign literature.

"He got a little encouragement, a little help. Englebright's home town paper, the Nevada City (pop. 2,445) Nugget, gave him editorial support. The truck drivers and yard men at his Lone Pine Lumber and Supply Co. offered to spend their evenings in his office pecking out campaign letters. They did not worry about the fact that they might be hurting their own pocketbooks: last year half the company's $400,000 gross (and Henderson's $27,000 profits) came from government orders. He would lose as a Congressman."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Nugget's editorial support to Henderson's candidacy is news to us. The Nugget used Henderson's publicity on an equal basis as that of Candidate Finnegan and Incumbent Englebright.)

Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L., Jr.

If anyone else had come forth with Henry Kaiser's world-sweeping scheme for a fleet of 5,000 70-ton cargo-carrying aerial boats, we would have said, "Well, it's a swell idea—if it could only be done" and forgotten about it. But we're not going to forget Henry Kaiser's plan.

The highest policy-makers and strategists in the country are going to take important time to listen to Kaiser tell them his plan, explain it, and tell them why he believes it will work. Then they will explore every complicated facet of the huge program involved. Then promptly, they will decide yes or no.

For them, the experts — high-naval and military officers, Donald Nelson, experienced members of congressional military and naval committees, the problem will devolve around a number of highly complicated factors regarding production facilities, over-all needs, long range strategy, and labor supply.

For us, the layman, the problem is simpler. In this nation we are accustomed to measure the quality of what a man predicts he can do by the yardstick of his past performances. Henry Kaiser has been the miracle man of western constuction. He has performed practical miracles.

A man's hand is steadied by past successes. Success breeds more success. Kaiser at Bonneville, at Grand Coulee, and in his present colossal record breaking shipbuilding, has gained the know-how to galvanize to productive efficiency the multitudinous activities of huge industrial organizations.

He has learned how to do great things with unprecedented vigor and dispatch. A dreamer never built a Bonneville or a Grand Coulee. And a mere drudging engineer never surpassed the expert's brightest hopes by breaking all the world's known records for speed in building ships.

Henry Kaiser is a practical man, first of all. A man who gets things done. Then he is a thinker, a man of vast imagination.

In understanding Kaiser, we can better understand the strength and scope of his idea. Knowing Kaiser's record, we will know that the plan was not a pleasing thought that flitted through his mind and out of his mouth and into a microphone that broadcast it to the United States.

Kaiser studied the steel situation. He conferred with brilliant aircraft manufacturers, men whose records in their own field

Men Charged With Attempt To Obstruct War Lived In This Area

Robert Edward Edmondson, 71 year old writer and lecturer arrested in his Grass Valley home Friday night on a charge of attempting to obstruct and defeat the war effort, is now free on $5,000 cash bail, posted before U. S. Commissioner Adellia McCabe in Sacramento.

Federal officers who jailed Edmondson also had intended to arrest Gerald B. Winrod, Wichita publisher of The Defender, one of the publications for which Edmondson was a writer, but Winrod fled from his home at Downieville before the government men arrived.

Edmondson and Winrod were among 28 persons charged with seeking to undermine the morale of the armed forces in federal grand jury indictments returned in Washington, D. C.

Winrod apparently learning he had been named in the indictment, left Downieville for Wiichita where it was understood he intended to surrender. He had been working with his cousin, Carroll Winrod, in a chrome mine near Downieville.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Wesley Erich, who arrested Edmondson, reported Edmondson denied knowledge that Winrod was living within 50 miles of him, saying he came to Grass Valley for his health. In the homes of both Winrod and Edmondson large quantities of correspondence, literature and other matter was confiscated.

Edmondson had been living in a house on the Tahoe-Ukiah Highway since last October. His wife resided with him. He was seldom seen in town but when he did appear before the public he was always immaculately dressed.

MINERS SCORE ELEVEN RUNS IN ONE INNING

The Grass Valley Miners scored eleven runs in the second inning yesterday and then went on to win easily 14 to 4 from the Chico Colts in a Sacramento Valley League game at Watt Park in Grass Valley yesterday afternoon.

Manager Larry Gillick was hit freely in the second inning debacle but he didn't take himself out of the box until the eighth inning, when the score stood 14 to 1 in favor of the Miners.

Sixteen men batted in the second inning before the Colts were able to retire the side. In that inning Bart Smythe hit safely twice.

Pat Hurley pitched good ball for the Miners. He loosened up slightly in the ninth inning to let the Colts score three runs. He had a shutout up until the eighth inning.

The score:	R.	H.	E.
Grass Valley	14	16	2
Chico	4	7	4

Batteries: Hurley and S. Stassi; Gillick, L. Smythe, and Dalrymple.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

NO SERIOUS INJURIES IN ACCIDENT ON TAHOE-UKIAH ROAD

A collision between cars operated by Dr. C. L. Stewart of Grass Valley and Serge M. Glyachenkoff of Nixon, Nev., occurred on the Tahoe-Ukiah Highway eight miles east of Nevada City during the weekend. Occupants of the two machines suffered only slight bruises but there was considerable damages to the automobiles.

Glyachenkoff is superintendent of the MJL Mine near Nixon.

The California Highway Patrol investigated the accident.

There was also an accident on the Auburn Highway. Edith L. McNabb suffered a broken arm when the car she was driving had a blowout and before she could bring it under control it left the highway and turned over. Mrs. McNabb's husband is employed at Camp Beale.

Swimmer Loses Life At Olympia

The body of Rodger Purcell Guinee, 20, University of San Francisco student who lost his life while swimming at Lake Olympia, Saturday night, was sent today by the Holmes Funeral Home to San Francisco, where funeral rites will be held.

An autopsy yesterday revealed Guinee's death was due to drowning. The youth, who arrived at Olympia just a short while before the tragedy to visit with Hubert O'Hara, planned to swim with O'Hara before the ate. O'Hara was the first to plunge into the lake and Guinee, who was an excellent swimmer, followed him.

After swimming a short distance Guinee gave a cry and then sank. Warren White, Don Lindstrom and P. H. Vaughn, the latter the lifeguard at the lake, pulled Guinee from the lake and immediately began resuscitation efforts. The respirator from Grass Valley was immediately called for but neither the work of the experienced first aid men or the respirator succeeded in restoring life to Guinee.

Truckee River Now Offers Good Fishing

The Truckee River is lower and clearer. The fly fishing has been good and some fishermen are having success with bait.

The creeks are all low now but good for a fly.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McCall of Sacramento made a nice catch on Lake Tahoe, trolling near Brockway, landing nine Mackinaw, weighing 42 1-2 pounds.

SPEAKS AT GRASS VALLEY ROTARY TODAY

Frank G. Finnegan, Nevada City attorne and candidate for Congress, was the speaker at the noon meeting today of the Grass Valley Rotary Club.

Caught in the Riffles

The popularity of Deer Creek swimming holes, everywhere from the "warm hole" above Hal Draper's to Willow Valley, is coming back. While the Murchie Mine mill was operating the water was too murky for swimming but now the water is clear and along the creek there are many fine holes in which to swim.

Before the pool at Pioneer Park was established, Deer Creek was the only place in the immediate vicinity where swimming could be enjoyed. Even now there are some that prefer the creek to the Pioneer Park pool, especially a local group addicted to swimming without bathing suits!

If you think news is pretty dull these days just think what the Placer Press and its readers were confronted with in 1857.

In perusing the Press issues of that year, Assemblyman "Scoop" Thurman ran across this:

"Dearth of News—The week has passed away without a single crime item, casualty or other circumstance out of which to manufacture a startling item. We are indebted to Dr. Thomas for one death and to the God of Love for two marriage notices."

Political note: Last week when Eben Smart was in Truckee campaigning for county assessor, he went into the Truckee Merc, walked up to Bill Wilkie, stuck out his paw and stated: "My name is Eben Smart." Ignoring the gesture, Bill simply said: "You're a liar. You're too young." The difficulty was soon over come when it came out that Bill had gone to school with Smart's father, whose name was also Eben, in the old days at Dutch Flat.—Sierra Sun.

Many are wondering whether a sensational battle between two women residents of the community will wind up in court . . . Frank Roberts has joined the Navy. . . . A new group o Camp Fire Girls arrived yesterday from the bay area for two weeks in the sunshine at Lake Vera. . . . We were informed the reason the Flags flying from the various masts in this community are not taken in at sundown is because "it's too much trouble." . . . Will slot machines, which are prevalent in large numbers in various parts of the county, despite orders from the governor and the army that "they must go", become an issue before the August Primary election? . . . And speaking of the election, Incumbent Harry L. Englebright, in a letter he sent from Wahington, urges a Nevada City man who has been dead for four years to vote for him! Please, Mr. Englebright, let's confine this election to the living.

Miss Frances Pryor, Walnut Grove schoolteacher, has returned to her home after spending a pleasant week visiting with her sister, Mrs. Ed Martine.

THE NEXT GOVERNOR

As its next chief executive. Earl Warren is going to inject some statesmanship into California's government.

Mr. Olson has failed utterly to supply the state's need for wartime leadership.

He messed up the State Guard.

He failed to look ahead to the time when there would be sucha shortage of farm labor that the crops would rot in the field, and his only suggestion has been to bring the Japs back from the internment camps—a suggestion that promptly earned him a slap in the face from the Army.

He arrayed the legislature against him to such an extent—Democrats as well as Republicans—that there is no prospect of cooperation between the two branches of state government so long as he is governor. There should have been a special session this summer to revise the tax system, but Olson would not call it because even he knew that he would probably pull some more boners—and that would never do in an election year.

He insisted on perpetuating his State Relief Administration political machine, and now is claiming credit for a state treasury surplus that could not have been accumulated if he had had his way.

Instead of providing the leadership that the people have a right to expect, he has cried for help from Washington every time he got into a corner.

When Mr. Warren, a month ago, flatfootedly advocated permitting the state's pensioners to make and keep such little "outside" income as they could, Olson chased off to Washington to beg for this very thing. Why didn't he do something about it during his four-year term? Well, he did, but it was on the negative side. When the right was taken away from the old-age pensioners by the Social Security Administration early in 1940, he yielded weakly.

Instead of leadership, we have had pettifogging, childishness and truckling to professional unionism.

To listen to Olson, you'd think we had a caste system in California. You'd think that every man who works for wages wants to destroy business little and big, that the farmer is someone to be forgotten entirely, that the widow who owns a few securities is an ogre. The working man is intelligent, and wants everybody to prosper so that his own prosperity may be secure. He is as critical as any other section of the public of the extremes pursued by some of labor's "leaders." The working man believes in the property system, else why would he want to own his own home? He believes in the opportunities offered in business, else why would he educate his son in the hope that the son will get farther ahead in the world than the parent?

Olson is trying desperately to ride back into power on the coattails of the New Deal. He is trying to paint Warren as "a reactionary Republican plotter." The people won't fall for this worn-out line. The people will wait for the presidential election to vote for or against Mr. Roosevelt. Right now they are interested in electing a governor, a leader, a chief executive for their own state—someone who can stand on his own feet.—M. F. Small in the Feather River Bulletin.

were almost as brilliant as Kaiser. He figured a plan to use the ocean's salt waters as production line for the giant cargo planes of the Mars type.

He knew of coure, as we know, that when such a fleet of mammoth planes was built and in action, that the Axis would be through. The burning force of this thought might have blinded some men to the difficulties of the project—but not this genius of dams and ships.

It is obvious to everyone that if the fleet of planes can be built, they will have a devastating and final effect. We will win the war pronto. Kaiser made dead sure that he could remove the "if" from "if the planes can be built," before he announced his plan.

This war has been a revolutionary war. We have seen conservatism fail and fall wherever it was hit, save one place. Power now is air power. The forces of evil are advancing, and within our grasp lies this new weapon that will destroy them suddenly and forever. Shall we seize this tool?

Write your congressman what you think of Kaiser's plan. Tell him it is his duty to you to do everything in his power to further the rapid destruction of the Axis through this means.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE ASKED BY BLACKWOOD

The state advisory pardon board, at a meeting in Sacramento today, was to consider the clemency application of Irl R. Blackwood, 45, convicted in the Nevada County Superior Court for the slaying of Arthur LaValley and George Root in Grass Valley on January 1, 1939.

Blackwood has asked for commutation of sentence. Mrs. Blackwood, who was convicted of manslaughter in connection with the case, has already been paroled from the women's prison at Tehachapi.

Consistency becomes a rare jewel indeed, when a man will preach patriotism and then go out and waste rubber by driving at 60 miles per hour.

FIREMEN WILL ELECT NEW CHIEF HERE TONIGHT

The annual election of the Nevada City Fire Department for chief and assistant chief will be held tonight at Pioneer Park between the hours of 6 and 9 p. m.

Carl G. Steger, present assistant chief, is scheduled to be elevated to the chief position, succeeding Carl T. Larsen. W. G. Robson is the candidate for assistant chief.

The election officers are Miles Coughlin and Carl Larsen, clerks, Al Bates and Cameron Larsen, judges.

The usual good time will be enjoyed by the firemen following the casting of the ballots.

PLEASANT MEETING HELD HERE BY EVANGELINE CHAPTER

A new member was initiated into Evangeline Chapter, O. E. S. at the last meeting. The officers exemplified their work in a most beautiful and impressive manner.

Dorothy Perry Simmons, accompanied by Theo Hooper of Aurora Chapter of Grass Valley, sang two solos.

Following initiation the conductress elect was presented for installation, Worthy Matron Margaret Bosworth presiding as installing officer. Bernice Penrose accepted the honor of conductress at the July 7th election. After being conducted to her station she made a few remarks and thanks of appreciation to her chapter.

Refreshments were served in the banquet hall under the chairmanship of Maude May Shaw and her committee.

Institutional Sugar Users To Receive 75 Per Cent Of Normal

Institutional users of sugar, such as restaurants, hospitals, etc., will receive 75 per cent of their normal needs, instead of 50 per cent as regularly allowed, and industrial users will receive 80 per cent of the normal requirements instead of 70 per cent as heretofore. The extra allotment, however, is for the one allotment period only, July and August, and not for September and October. This was announced here today at the local sugar rationing headquarters.

Employment At Bechtel Shipyard Totals 3800

Employment is keeping pace with the steady increase in shipbuilding activity at the W. A. Bechtel Co's new Marinship Yard at Sausalito, according to E. L. Fox, personnel manager.

At present, Fox said, the company has an immediate place for 200 journeymen welders, 200 journeymen shipfitters, 150 journeymen chippers, and 50 general boilermakers helpers. These needs, he said, indicate the chief demands in the way of labor at present.

Present employment totals about 3800 persons. This figure represents an increase of about 800 in the past two weeks, but it is still far below the total of 7356, which preliminary estimates indicate will be reached by August 20.

New Fire Headquarters Open Near Truckee

The new fire truck garage and operators quarters at the junction of the Lake Tahoe-Truckee roads, one mile west of Brockway, has been completed sufficiently for occupation and Fireman Lyle F. Smith has moved in. This station, according to District Ranger H. I. Snider, has been made possible through the efforts of members of the North Community Club who donated their time in building and raising funds among property owners to finance the structures which were placed rental free on land owned by George Seymour.

NEWS IN RHYME

Over KJBS Daily at 12:30 P. M.
Written by Harley M. Leete, Jr.

Russians, we hear your passionate plea,
For a second front. Please know that we,
Are doing the best that hard work can,
To hasten that day with men and plan.
Naturally, we cannot tell you now,
Exactly the force or when or how.
We can safely venture this one surmise,
That when it comes 'twill be a surprise.
Our bite shall be far worse than our bark—
That's why we're keeping you all in the dark.
The Russians plead for a second front,
That the Huns may bear a double brunt.
They say, with justice, now's the time.
The hour is ripe, advantage prime.
On Russia's steppes the Nazi lords,
Drive deep with millions in their hordes.
With their strength in the East, this time seems best,
For a crushing blow from out of the west.
If "there's a tide in the affairs of men,
Which taken at the flood leads on to fortune"—then,
Why, now's the time to strike the Hun,
With his Russ campaign too well begun.
However, one more thing we know—
When the second front comes, it must be a blow,
That's struck with paralyzing force.
This we take as a matter of course.
Yet such a blow needs a detailed plan,
One that's worked out to the very last man.
That the thrust may deliver the maximum shock,
Every move must be smooth as the tick of a clock.
The army's bold soldiers and navy's brave gobs,
Must know by heart their detailed jobs.
And there must be freighters, score upon score,
To carry the men and the weapons of war.
It's not a thing to be done with ease.
If we'd bring Herr Hitler down on his knees.
So we make all haste to the second front's day:
Brave Russian friends, we're on our way!

PRODUCTION OF GOLD DECLINED DURING 1941

SACRAMENTO, July 27.—(UP)—State Mineralogist Walter W. Bradley reported today total returns from California mineral products during 1941 was $374,327,409.

This represents a $31,501,592 increase over 1940. Bradley said the increase was due mainly to stimulated production in cement, petroleum, tungsten ore, quicksilver, natural gas, brick and hollow tile, and pottery clay.

Sixty eight different minerals were sold. All 58 of California's counties contributed one or more metals to the year's output.

Fuels provided revenue, $240,326,788. Metals increased in value of output from $59,949,838 in 1940 to $61,595,912 in 1941.

Decreases were shown in gold, potash, borates, copper, silver, salt and limestone. Labor trouble, Bradley reported, brought about the decline in salines.

Stenographers And Typists Needed By Welfare Dept.

California's county welfare departments need stenographers and typists.

If you can type 40 words per minute or take shorthand at the rate of 80 words per minute, the State Department of Social Welfare urges you to apply for the examinations that are scheduled throughout the state. No previous experience is required of applicants who are high school graduates.

Closing date for filing applications for these positions of Junior Typist-Clerk and Junior Stenographer-Clerk is August 8, 1942. Applications may be obtained at any U. S. Employment Office and at most county welfare offices, or by mailing a request to P. O. Box 1887, Sacramento.

It is expected that sufficient applications will be filed to enable giving the tests in Auburn.

BUSINESS IS NOT "AS USUAL"

We find ourselves in a cycle of changed conditions that only this war could bring about. Our business is not "as usual" definitely!

Routine and custom have flown out the window; the overly flossed word "Service" has been replaced by forceful "necessity." We are doing our best to keep passenger and freight schedules running smoothly. It is important that we do. Small cog that we may be it is up to us to see that this particular cog does not whine or drag in the great national machine of transportation. For transportation is one of the strongest weapons our nation fights with today.

Perhaps a freight consignment has not arrived on "pre-war time" schedule. What happened to it?

The train carrying it may have been late, due to an important "straight through" run of military needs. Then too, there is the matter of new help. Under the rulings of the Office of Defense Transportation, which we adhere to, we are not permitted to make special deliveries or call-backs. We are permitted bpt one round of deliveries per day—we are doing our bit in the national appeal to conserve rubber. We can't promise on-the-dot deliveries but we do promise to do our best!

Folks, as passengers, you have cooperated in grand style. You may have experienced difficulty in securing a seat on our busses but you have taken it in fine sporit. Most of you bu tickets and arrange passage well ahead of departure time—and thank you for your thoughtfulness. The late ticket buyer is one of our greatest problems. One late traveler can delay a waiting bus, cause confusion and vexation.

So Please—Please Buy Your Ticket at Least a Day in Advance of Traveling!
Do You Mind If We Repeat These Other Wartime Traveling Aids?

—If possible avoid week-ends, rush periods, (holidays — any time when your trip might place a strain on transportation (particularly the main line carriers.)

—Take as little baggage as possible. Excessive baggage is often a cause of delay or inconvenience.

—Phone us for information. Grass Valley patrons please call 1010. Nevada City patrons phone Enterprise 10506, free of charge.

War time transportation is not transportation "as usual" — but the carefree days of pleasure travel and clock-time freight service will come again. Right now the war effort comes first—with us as it does with you.
